

Robin Edwan

Executive Bio

Robin Edwan is a UAE based environmental operations and business professional with more than ten years of experience in environmental services, regulatory coordination, and commercial facility compliance.

He is the Founder and Managing Director of Eco Technology Environment Protection Services L.L.C. in Ajman, a municipality approved environmental services company specializing in grease management systems, wastewater protection solutions, and environmental compliance services for restaurants and commercial facilities across the UAE.

Through this role Robin has led the development of operational systems, service frameworks, and municipal coordination processes designed to support environmental protection and regulatory compliance. His work involves collaboration with local authorities, facility operators, and private sector stakeholders to ensure environmental standards and operational efficiency.

His experience includes implementing operational practices aligned with environmental management principles such as pollution prevention, waste control, and sustainable facility operations.

Prior to founding Eco Technology Environment Protection Services, Robin worked with Ajman Bank as a VIP Relationship Manager where he managed high value client portfolios exceeding AED 200 million and developed expertise in client advisory, financial coordination, and relationship management.

Robin combines entrepreneurial leadership with practical operational experience, focusing on developing environmental solutions, improving operational efficiency, and supporting sustainable infrastructure practices across commercial sectors.
